

First Nations University of Canada

tradition innovation leadership

Online Certificate of Administration (Indigenous Management)

The First Nations University of Canada will deliver an online Certificate in Administration (Indigenous Management) to serve a national audience of First Nations organizations, band administrators and other indigenous learners. Different from other online business certificates, FNU's Certificate in Administration (Indigenous Management) is designed from an Indigenous worldview, with content and methodologies drawn from First Nations cultures and experiences in Canada.

Sample courses:

Level I

ADMN 220: Introduction to First Nations Public Administration

The introductory course is designed to present the managerial implications of a band government administrative structure. Major concepts and findings in the field of management will be compared with band management and its unique demands. Similarities and differences in band management structures will be compared with business and public administration models.

ADMN 225: First Nations Economic Development

This course is designed to evaluate the strengths and weaknesses of various approaches to band entrepreneurial development undertaken by government agencies, research and planning groups, band organizations, band councils and individual band entrepreneurs. Problem areas and alternative approaches will be investigated in relation to the physical and social environments, external factors, and the socio-cultural environment.

ADMN 228: First Nations Public Administration in Canada

This survey course focuses on First Nation governments. Emphasis is on its concepts, issues, and rapidly emerging and changing systems. Special emphasis is given to the policy, financial, and personnel aspects of First Nations public sector administration.

Level II

ADMN 288: Introduction to Managerial Accounting

This survey course focuses on First Nation governments. Emphasis is on its concepts, issues, and rapidly emerging and changing systems. Special emphasis is given to the policy, financial, and personnel aspects of First Nations public sector administration.

ADMN 320: Planning in First Nations Public Sector Organizations

This course will enable participants to better understand the community planning process and the technique and methods of analysis utilized in comprehensive community planning. The course also provides a focus on the guidelines for public sector program implementation.

ADMN 352: Negotiations in a First Nations Setting

Negotiation as a means of conflict resolution is examined in the context of intergovernmental relationships, intra-organizational relationships, and business-client relationships. The course is experiential based and will focus on decision analytic perspectives to negotiation.

FNU will be offering online courses for the Certificate in Administration (Indigenous Management) as early as January 2017.

www.firstnationsuniversity.ca